Wagga Wagga

The name Wagga Wagga is a Wiradjuri Indigenous Australian word. In 2019 the English translation of Wagga Wagga was changed from the widely accepted 'place of many crows' to place of dance and celebration.

With an urban population of almost 70,000 people, Wagga is the state's largest and the country's fifth largest inland city.

Civic Theatre

The Civic Theatre opened in 1963 and went through a major upgrade in 2001. In 2018 there were further refurbishments including new seating in the auditorium and a foyer revamp. The Balcony now has an extendable cover with built in lighting. We have a wide range of performances that visit the theatre throughout the year, including our annual subscription season, touring shows, conferences and community events. The theatre seats 491 and it is the largest theatre venue in town.
